MEET OUR DIRECTOR

Ian Duckworth
Managing Director

"I've spent 25 years in this industry, and if there is one thing I've learned, it's that a successful move is never just about the boxes - it's about the people. I've built a team at Babel that shares this mindset and we know how much pressure a transition puts on your staff. Our goal is to shoulder that heavy lifting so your team can stay focused on their day jobs.

We don't believe in one-size-fits-all plans, instead, we get stuck into the details, listening to your needs to make sure our approach is practical and right for your specific culture.

Whether we are leading the project from the front or working as an extension of your own internal team, we are here to make the whole journey feel calm, organised, and straightforward for everyone involved."
